THAILAND'S
FANTASTIC ROUTES
FOR Kids

"Nong Sukjai"

The friendly, smiling face of Nong Sukjai ("nong" means "younger sibling" and "sukjai" means "happiness" in Thai), the mascot of Tourism Authority of Thailand, welcomes everyone to Thailand. Launched in 2005, Nong Sukjai's role is to be the face of Thailand's tourism and invite everyone to explore Thailand.

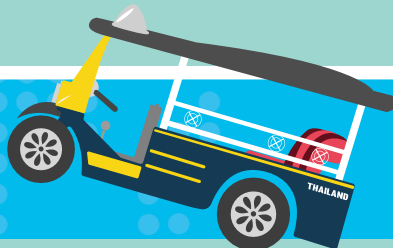

THAILAND'S FANTASTIC ROUTES FOR KIDS

Families who travel together, stay together and there's a reason for that. Modern lifestyle often makes family members too occupied with their daily tasks to spend quality time together. When travelling away from home, they can create shared family memories and experience new things together, isolated from ordinary everyday activities.

Thailand's Fantastic Routes for Kids is a book that highlights 10 family-friendly routes throughout Thailand, from the mountains in the North to the beaches in the South, with recommended highlights and activities for children age 4-14 years old, plus something the mom and the dad can also enjoy.

From exploring nature to learning about Thai culture, there are many unique and fun experiences in Thailand that will connect you as a family and create wonderful memories that you will remember always.

EXPLORE NATURE

CHIANG MAI

There are many good reasons why children should be encouraged to spend time in nature, especially those raised in an urban environment with little time to experience the wonders of nature. Getting outside in nature means children are not hunched over the computer, glued to their tablet, or in front of the TV. Instead, they will be running, jumping, and developing their respect and responsibility for the world they live in.

Chiang Mai, the Northern capital of Thailand, is an escape from the whirlwind pace of urban life, without being too far removed from modern facilities. It offers a well-balanced mix of nature and city life, with an added bonus of cool and fresh air, thanks to its mountainous landscape and lush jungles.

★ Queen Sirikit Botanic Garden
★ Chiang Mai Zoo

The Queen Sirikit Botanic Garden is Thailand's first botanic garden. Walk in the Rainforest Glasshouse to learn about plants from Asian tropical forests. The Canopy Walkway offers spectacular views and the thrill of being several hundred meters off the ground. There is a number of walking trails provided, making it a perfect place for families.

About an hour's drive from the Queen Sirikit Botanic Garden is the Chiang Mai Zoo, a leading education center of valuable wild animals. There are such as, many enrichment programmes to choose from; such as, rope hanging and animal feeding, to delight the young ones. It also features Snow Dome, which offers snow activities, and Chiang Mai Zoo Aquarium, which features scuba diving and snorkeling activities (recommended for older kids).

★ Chiang Mai Tiger Kingdom

Start your morning with some thrills. For some adrenaline-pumping action, ziplining lets you explore Chiang Mai's pristine nature in an exciting way. There are many places where you can enjoy this activity; such as the Pongyang Zipline and Jungle Coaster, Zipline Chiang Mai, Eagle Track Zipline, and Zipline Flying Squirrels. This activity is recommended for children older than 5 years old due to safety regulations of the harness used.

Another fun place to visit is The Chiang Mai Tiger Kingdom. The tigers here are well-trained and raised by trainers, so you can safely interact with them. This makes a good place for lunch, as it offers a buffet-style restaurant where you can dine surrounded by friendly tigers.

THAI LANNA TOUCH

CHIANG MAI

Chiang Mai is one of the biggest cultural hubs of Thailand. It displays very distinct and refined culture, developed over the centuries from the early Lanna period. Meanwhile, Chiang Mai's contemporary art scene has thrived significantly over the past decade, with various art galleries, museums, and craft markets popping up everywhere.

Even outside the museums and culture centers, you can learn about the Lanna lifestyle from the way the locals live today. The people of Chiang Mai are conscious of their hometown's historical and cultural uniqueness, and preserve the city's culture by incorporating it into their modern day life, from architecture to cuisine.

ROUTE 2

★ Art in Paradise 3D Art Museum
★ Klang Wiang Chiang Mai Museums

Take some amazing photos at Art in the Paradise 3D Art Museum, which presents "Illusion Art" in the form that allows visitors to take part in the artworks closely. You can use your imagination to come up with expressions and postures that best match the art you're viewing – being underwater, chased by a shark, and many more.(recommended for older kids).

To learn about local arts, visit the three museums in the Klang Wiang Chiang Mai Museum Partnership, which includes the Chiang Mai City Arts & Cultural Center, Chiang Mai Historical Center, and Lanna Folklife Museum. They are located in close proximity to one another.

CHARMING CITY OF THE HORSE

LAMPANG

Lampang is also called “mueang rot ma”, which in Thai means “horse carriage city”. The horse and carriage was introduced in 1916 as a means of transportation, and today, Lampang is the only province in Thailand that still has horse carriages as a means of transportation, with about 200 horse driven carriages currently in use, which children will definitely enjoy riding.

Lampang is quieter and less urban than its neighbor Chiang Mai, but has enough of its own charms to attract visitors. In addition to its unspoiled nature, Lampang also has rich culture, as it was a focal point for the Thai teak industry in the late 1800s and a trading hub of Northern Thailand, Burma (now Myanmar) and Lao PDR.

★ Kat Kong Ta

A trip to Lamphang is not complete without riding the horse carriage, an activity not available in any other city. The service is available from 6 a.m. to 4 p.m., and can be found near the Old City Hall. The fare is around 200 Baht for a 20 minutes' ride. Each carriage can fit two adults.

After that, visit the Kat Kong Ta Walking Street. Kat Kong Ta was formerly the main market of Lamphang but quietened down after the road system came to Lamphang. The people revived this area by organizing a Walking Street on Saturday and Sunday evenings, from 5-10 p.m. If you just want to explore the old buildings, you can go any day of the week.

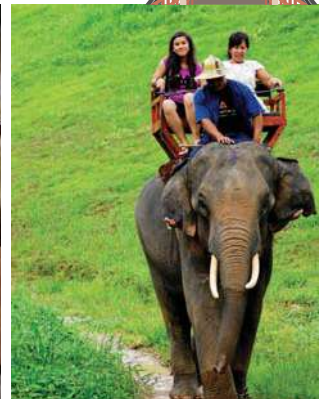

★ The Thai Elephant Conservation Center

The Thai Elephant Conservation Center (TECC) cares for more than 50 Asian elephants, as well as 10 royal white elephants, in a beautiful forest. As Thailand's only government-owned elephant camp, the TECC offers a relaxed, non-commercial atmosphere. There are also overnight options.

The chicken bowl is one of Lamphang's signature products, and you can watch how it is made by the local craftsmen at the Dhanabadee Ceramic Museum. Children can also try their hand at painting ceramic items and taking home their works of art.

Farm & Fun

Nakhon Ratchasima

For children, there's nothing like being in the great outdoors, where they can learn to appreciate nature, pick up a bit of survival skills, and reconnect with their roots. Nakhon Ratchasima is one of the most popular family destinations in Thailand. Home to Khao Yai National Park, its beautiful nature and fresh air provide a pleasantly relaxing atmosphere.

Given its close proximity to Bangkok – only 3 hours' drive away – it is ideal for a quick getaway on the weekend. The province is also packed with farms and activities for kids, from organic vegetable farms to dairy farms. This also means you get to enjoy fresh, healthy and delicious food right at the source.

★ Farm Chokchai

One of the most famous dairy farms in Thailand, Farm Chokchai aims to encourage people, adults and children alike, to live a green life. This expansive farm offers CSR & Knowledge Tourism program, which teaches you about being environmentally and socially responsible.

Children can opt for an ice cream workshop in which they can learn how to make ice cream using the Farm's fresh milk. Boutique camps are available if you want a full experience of the Farm. Its restaurant, Chokchai Steakhouse, is also very popular among locals.

EASY BY SKYTRAIN

BANGKOK

There are many things to love about the BTS skytrain in Bangkok. It is by far the most convenient means of transportation because it saves you from being stuck in traffic. Besides, it takes you to most of the wonderful places you'll want to see when you're here. Bangkok boasts some of the greatest destinations, from the biggest shopping mall in the country and the third largest shopping complex in Asia, to Asia's first dinosaur theme park.

There are many fun activities and family-friendly venues in Bangkok accessible by the BTS. More importantly, most venues have something for everyone in the entire family – a café for the parents to relax, retail shops for the ladies of the house to explore, massage services, play areas for young children, and adrenaline-pumping activities for bigger kids.

★ Sea Life Bangkok
 ★ Madame Tussaud's
 ★ Bangkok Art and Culture Center

Siam is one of the most thriving areas of Bangkok, home to many shopping complexes and the interchange station of the BTS. Once you get off the BTS, you will be greeted by Siam Paragon, one of the most luxurious malls, in Thailand, which houses Sea Life Bangkok, a world-class aquarium.

Just a few steps away from Siam Paragon is Siam Discovery, which has Madame Tussaud's, where you can take pictures with wax figures of some of the most iconic people, including Spiderman. From there, cross to the other side of the road to the Bangkok Art and Culture Center, where art events and exhibitions are always going on.

EXPIQUE'S CLASSIS

BANGKOK

Located near the Chao Phraya River, just north of the famous Chinatown area, the Old Town (Rattanakosin) is where you'll find Bangkok's most spectacular and revered historical sites, from the Grand Palace to Wat Phra Kaeo. Home to the most visited and remembered landmarks of Thailand, the Old Town is an interesting area to explore if you want to know about the history of Bangkok.

In addition to royal architecture and temples, you will also enjoy well-preserved old houses and shops which have been around for over a century. If you're in the mood for authentic Thai flavors, there are also local food stalls and food shops scattered throughout the area.

★ Tuk Tuk Sightseeing

Riding a tuk-tuk is a unique experience and a great way to explore the city. If you are worried about being ripped off, try the Tuk Tuk Hop application (tuktukhop.com), which allows you to call a tuk-tuk on demand without having to worry about scams.

A recommended route is around the Old Town, where the Grand Palace and the Emerald Buddha Temple (Wat Phra Kaeo) are located. You can learn about the history of Bangkok and enjoy the glorious architecture. While in the area, make a stop at the Bangkok National Museum, which houses the largest collection of Thai art and artifacts in the country, as well as an impressive collection of Asian artifacts.

Bangkok, and the best way to get to know it is through a boat trip. There are many interesting places that you can go to on the Chao Phraya Tourist Boat; such as, Saphan Taksin BTS Station at Sathon Pier and old fortresses at Phra Athit Pier.

★ Rattanakosin Exhibition Hall ★ Thai Massage at Wat Pho

Rattanakosin Exhibition Hall invites the public to appreciate Thailand's artistic and cultural legacies of the Rattanakosin Era. The exhibition employs modern technologies – multimedia, touch screen, 4D, and more – to create an immersive experience. There are nine exhibition halls, and an even a hall for temporary events or exhibitions.

If you want to take a break from all the walking, Wat Pho is a great stop along the way. Not only will you enjoy looking at old sculptures and Chinese-inspired architecture, but you can also try the temple's famous Thai massage. Children massage is also available.

FAMILY FUN

PATTAYA

A popular holiday destination, Pattaya is loved for its beaches and urban environment. One of the busiest cities in Thailand, Pattaya has all the metropolitan facilities – large shopping malls, five-star hotels, fine-dining restaurants, entertainment venues, markets and more. More importantly, it has many beautiful beaches, and there are many exotic islands just a stone's throw away.

Over the recent years, Pattaya has emerged as a family-friendly destination with the addition of new kid-centric places. There are many family-oriented resorts with dedicated kids' clubs, as well as activities for everyone in the family – golf, spa, diving, craft classes, to name but a few. Pattaya also boasts a plethora of kid-safe, family-friendly dining spots that will keep your little ones entertained.

- ★ Ramayana Water Park
- ★ Cartoon Network Amazone
- ★ Frost Magical Ice of Siam

Pattaya is sunny on most days, and the best way to cool down from the heat is to spend your day at a water park. There are a few water parks to choose from; such as, Ramayana and Cartoon Network Amazone, providing fun for both children and adults. Don't forget your sunscreen!

You can also escape the heat at Frost Magical Ice of Siam, where you can enjoy beautiful ice sculpture and light shows in a subzero temperature. Some of the sculptures are inspired by Thai literature, so it is a good opportunity to learn about Thai culture.

★ Nong Nooch Garden
★ Ripley's World of Entertainment

One of the most beautiful gardens in Pattaya is Nong Nooch Garden, a tropical botanical garden which has been around since 1980. It has more than 18,000 kinds of plants, and is dubbed as one of the 10 Most Beautiful Gardens in the World. The Garden has recently added Dinosaur Valley, where children can take pictures with T-Rex, Triceratops, and Raptors.

Another exciting place for children is Ripley's World of Entertainment, which features Ripley's Believe It Or Not! Museum, with over 350 fascinating real exhibits and things you can't see anywhere else. Kids will also love The Vault: Laser Maze Challenge, where they can get some action in a maze with spectacular illusions and innovative lighting effects.

Hua Hin

Hua Hin is a city of historical importance. During the reign of King Rama V the Great, the extension of the railway from Bangkok to other Southern cities uncovered a hidden gem, Hua Hin. The Siamese elite then began vacationing in this town, and the popularity of Hua Hin went further with the completion of the railway from Bangkok to Hua Hin.

Today, Hua Hin is a favorite family destination for Thais and foreigners alike. Despite a wealth of facilities, it has remained rather peaceful, making it a perfect place for families who want to kick back and relax. It offers a balanced mix of nature, culture, and leisure.

ROUTE 8

- ★ Camel Republic
- ★ Mrigadayavan Palace

On the way to Cha-am and Hua Hin, you will notice Moroccan-style buildings on your left. Camel Republic has more than just camels – there are fun rides and activities suitable for children of all ages. Further down the road is Mrigadayavan Palace, a former royal residence by the sea. It has 16 magnificent golden teak stilted buildings linked together by long verandas.

In the late afternoon, when the sun is not shining too brightly, you can go horseback riding on the beach, or swim in the sea and watch the sun disappear into the horizon.

PHUKET

Called the “Pearl of the Andaman”, Phuket is Thailand’s largest island, famous for both nature and entertainment. Not many years ago, a survey by HSBC had rated Phuket as the best destination in the world for expat living, and last year, it ranked eighth in the Top 10 Islands by TripAdvisor.

In addition to mesmerizing beaches, Phuket also has spectacular Sino-Portuguese architecture, built more than a century ago. It is a city influenced by Chinese, Indian, Muslim and Thai cultures, resulting in a unique blend of architecture. It is also home to some of the most breathtaking resorts in the world, frequented by international A-list guests.

The slower-paced lifestyle here makes Trang and Satun a great escape from the hustle and bustle of the big city. Children can be children, in touch with nature and the world around them. Adults can leave their worries behind and enjoy the sun, sand and sea.

This does not mean Trang and Satun do not offer modern-day pleasures – you can find convenience and entertainment in most places. There are nice hotels and restaurants on offer in these picture-perfect provinces.

★ Peninsular Botanic Garden

★ Lay Trang

★ Ruan Thai Dim Sum

One of Trang's icons is the tuk-tuk hua kop (frog-head three-wheeler), a pastel green tuk-tuk that looks like a frog. You can explore the city in this adorable vehicle at about 250 Baht per hour. It is big enough to seat a group of 5-6 people. Make sure you ask your driver to make a stop at a dim sum place. Trang is known for delicious dim sum thanks to the Chinese influence in the area. Among the most famous dim sum restaurants are Lay Trang on Sai Ngam Road, Pong-osa near Soi Huai Yot Soi 3, and Ruan Thai Dim Sum on Phloenphithak Road.

Spend your afternoon looking at exquisite plants at Peninsular Botanic Garden (Thung Khai), which is an herbal garden, a botanical library, a plant museum, and a technical meeting center. The highlight is the Canopy Walkway, a 130-meter-long walking trail into a lowland jungle.

Trang is surrounded by many islands, all of which boast breathtaking beauty. Close to 50 islands sit off the Trang coastline. If you want to pick just a few, check out the ones that form the Hat Chao Mai National Park, which include Ko Muk, Ko Kradan, Ko Chueak, Ko Pling, Ko Waen, Ko Meng and Ko Chao Mai. At the Park, endangered dugong, rare black-necked stork, wild pigs, pangolins and langurs can be spotted.

If there's an island that warrants a full-day stay, it's Ko Lipe. It's an island paradise in the South Andaman Sea, famous for its white sandy beaches and turquoise blue water. There are many beach activities to do here – snorkeling, scuba diving, yoga, kayaking, or simply playing Frisbee on the powdery beach.
